INTRODUCTION

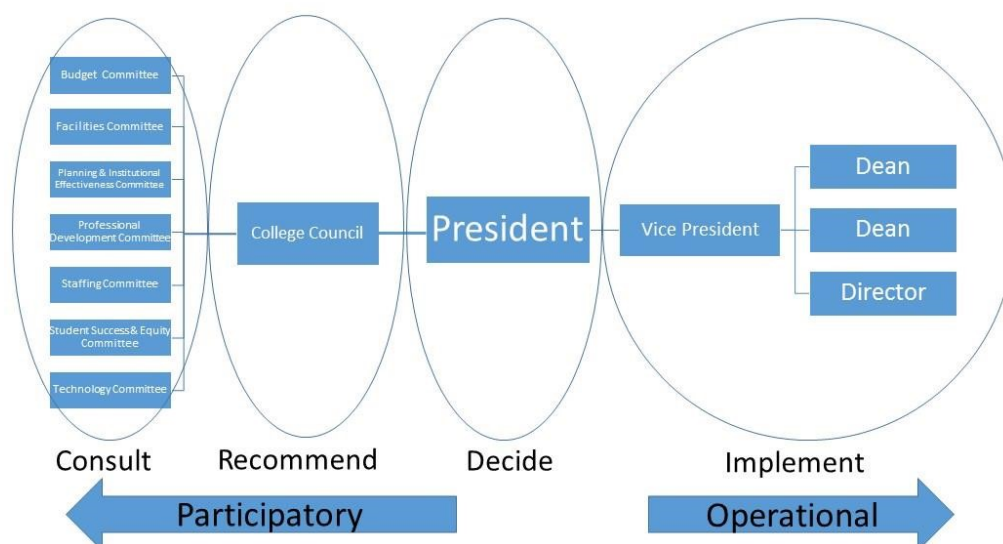

Grossmont College strives to enhance student success, improve the student experience, and ensure equitable access and outcomes for all students. An effective participatory governance will support these outcomes and will create a trustworthy recommendation-making process that the college president can rely upon to guide their decisions* on a broad range of policy development, resource allocations, and plans.

This handbook is designed to clarify the role of staff, faculty, students, and supervisors/administrators in participatory governance at Grossmont College. It provides guidance on the roles and responsibilities of all members of the college community, whether one is serving on a governance body* or not. It also serves as a source of institutional memory as it relates to Grossmont College's participatory governance structure, and the reasoning behind its restructure during the 2017-2018 and 2018-2019 academic years.

This handbook also describes the college's participatory governance structure, including its bodies, how they relate to each other, and how recommendations flow from one body to the next. It also describes the recommendation- and decision-making process, and how members of college constituency* groups and governance bodies participate in that process.

As a foundational framework, this handbook relies on AB 1725*, the landmark California legislation that first directed participatory governance activities at community colleges statewide; accrediting standards set forth by Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges (ACCJC); California education code*; California Code of Regulations*, specifically Title 5 regulations; and policies and procedures established by the Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District governing board (see appendix).

Participatory vs. Operational Example

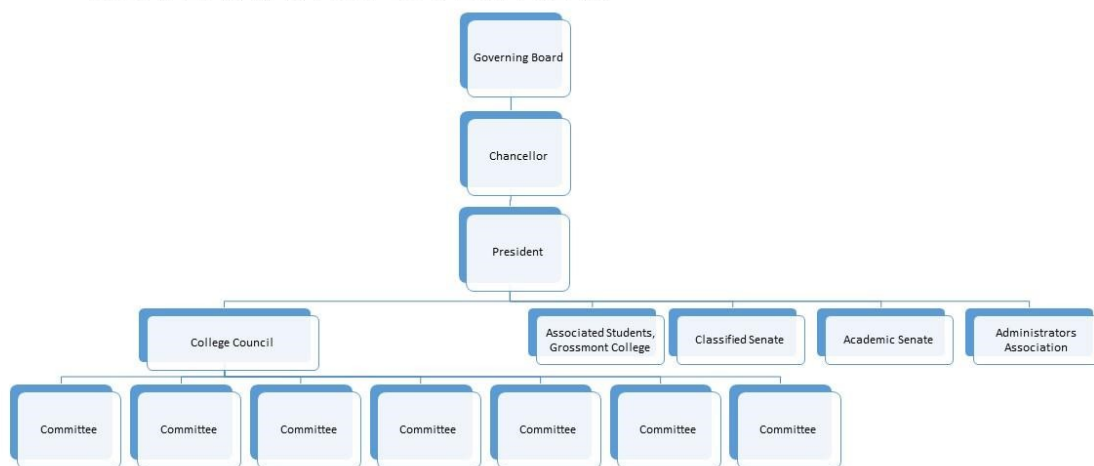

This document focuses ONLY on participatory governance and acknowledges other governance entities and decision-making processes with which participatory governance must engage separately and harmoniously:

- the Academic Senate with rights and responsibilities delineated in AB1725 and reflected in District Board policy;
- the Classified Senate representing the voice of classified staff;
- the Administrator's Association representing the voice of classified and educational managers and supervisors;
- the Associated Students of Grossmont College representing the voice of students;
- collective bargaining laws and the negotiated agreements between the respective employee bargaining units and the Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District which deal with matters pertaining to hours, wages, and working conditions and are not addressed in this publication;
- administrative/operational processes which deal with the day-to-day functioning of the college within established policies and procedures and not included in participatory governance;
- operational committees that ensure effective implementation of decisions* and allocations made through participatory governance recommendations or administrative processes; and
- district policies and procedures that govern college operations.

GROSSMONT PARTICIPATORY GOVERNANCE OVERVIEW

The handbook also includes information regarding philosophy and guiding principles; rules, roles, and responsibilities; communication and documentation; and governance relationships.

*Denotes glossary definition, see p. 18 – 20

Lastly, there is a dedicated glossary of definitions for phrases and words frequently used in participatory governance settings.

History

In spring 2017, Grossmont College administrative leadership, in coordination with the Academic Senate and Classified Senate, solicited assistance from the California Community Colleges' Institutional Effectiveness Partnership Initiative (IEPI) regarding three areas of focus: participatory governance, annual unit planning, and assessment of student learning outcomes.

In fall 2017, an IEPI-appointed partnership resource team (PRT) of staff, faculty, and supervisors/administrators from community colleges throughout the state visited with various members of the Grossmont College community and recommended that the college reorganize their participatory governance structure to adhere to the standards of good practice set by the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges (ACCJC) in 2014. Specifically, Standard IV addresses:

“The institution recognizes and uses the contributions of leadership throughout the organization for promoting student success, sustaining academic quality, integrity, fiscal stability, and continuous improvement of the institution... Through established governance structures, processes, and practices, the governing board, supervisors/administrators, faculty, staff, and students work together for the good of the institution.”

In fall 2017, it also became apparent to the Accreditation Steering Committee that the college had work to do as it related to Standard IV. A: Decision-Making Roles and Processes. At that time, the Governance Organization Steering Committee (GOSC) was formed, emerging out of the Administration/Senate Officers Committee (ADSOC), and included representatives from various campus constituency* groups, including Academic Senate, Administrators' Association, Associated Students of Grossmont College, and Classified Senate, in addition to representatives from the Accreditation Steering Committee and Professional Development. Led by technical assistance providers Helen Benjamin, Ph.D., retired Chancellor of Contra Costa Community College District; and Debbie DiThomas, Ed.D., retired President/Superintendent of Barstow College, the GOSC met numerous times, including several all-day sessions, during the 20172018 academic year to begin the work of redesigning the college's participatory governance structure.

This handbook is the result of that work, and will be continuously updated as it, and the participatory governance structure it describes, evolves over time. It will be reviewed on an annual basis by the College Council and its standing committees*, and updated as needed, per ACCJC standards.

PHILOSOPHY AND GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The goal of participatory governance at Grossmont College is to achieve effective participation by all constituencies, where all participants are trained in meeting processes, and collegial and civil behavior is assured. Recommendations are made by consensus*, have an equity perspective and focus on student outcomes. By doing so, a decision made by the president will be one that participants can trust was made in full consideration of the opinions expressed by the college's subject matter experts and constituencies.

As a state-funded institution, Grossmont College also has a duty to serve the public good and to be judicious in spending public funds. Effective participation by all constituencies in participatory government serves this purpose by ensuring good planning and transparency.

Effective Participatory Governance at Grossmont College will allow the college the ability to formulate strategic decisions* by the effective participation of all constituency* groups (students, classified professionals, faculty, supervisors/administrators). Governance offers a transparent process by which equity-minded and student-focused decision-making takes place by shared leadership actively seeking consensus* on the best way forward with any given issue or opportunity. Through participatory governance, the college is able to maximize institutional effectiveness with a student-focused, equity-based process that creates a culture of participatory and broad leadership. Effective governance requires participation, dialogue, and valued outputs.

1. Participation: Constituency* representation and active and effective participation in the assigned governance process will ensure Grossmont College will develop and implement policies and practices that produce shared benefit to the college community. The key to successful and effective committee work is active participation by all representatives. All participatory governance meetings are open to guests and have an open comment period. To encourage consistent participation, meeting conveners* and chairs* are discouraged from rescheduling meetings, as this affects the ability of members and guests to attend, especially students and faculty. When rescheduling is necessary attempts to maintain the same day and time are encouraged.
2. Dialogue: At Grossmont College, governance dialogue is the process of individuals exchanging ideas through civil discussions* designed to achieve mutual understanding. A commitment to equity*, civility, mutual respect, and collegial behavior by all participants is essential to achieving consensus*.
3. Valued Outputs: Governance achieves purpose when the process leads to identification of data-informed strategies, solutions, and/or recommendations that advance Grossmont College in the direction of equity-minded, student-centered goals. In this context, "value" is achieved through active participation by constituency* representatives in dialogue that produces meaningful consensus* and a way forward.

RULES, TOOLS AND ROLES

In order to create valued outcomes, a commitment to participation, dialogue, and the pursuit of value in the form of useful output by all is necessary. It is acknowledged that there are power dynamics in a room. Work must be done to create the equitable and inclusive environment sought for effective and active participation. To do so, council*/committee* members will establish behavioral norms that include the following meeting rules of engagement, make use of meeting tools, and respect the roles of each member.

Meeting Rules of Engagement

In participatory government, a high level of collegiality, respect, and civility is expected. Those expectations include the following rules:

- There is no rank in the room when at the committee table. All participants are treated as peers, both between constituencies and within constituencies.
- Speakers will be heard one at a time and without interruption. Participants will allow for moments of silence for thought and other viewpoints. In consideration of hearing all feedback, members should be mindful of how often and how long they speak. Equity* in consensus* building means including diverse perspectives at all levels of the organization.
- Members will be engaged and contribute, and challenge ideas, not people. All meeting attendees will be respectful/civil in their comments, responses, and body language.
- Members will listen to others, and seek to focus on the merits of what is being said, while making a good faith effort to understand the concerns of others. Council*/committee* members are encouraged to ask questions of clarification.
- Each person reserves the right to disagree with any proposal and accepts responsibility for offering alternatives that accommodate individual interests and the interests of others.
- All members should be mindful of the language used in discussions*, including use of "I" statements instead of "they" attributions to relate anecdotal evidence or experiences. Members are encouraged to use an asset-minded* approach that focuses on what works and how something can be done. This is in contrast to a deficit-minded* approach that focuses on the negative and why an initiative, idea, or project can't get done.
- All council*/committee* members will be aware of the purpose and responsibility of their committees. When issues arise in discussion* that are not supported by the committee's charge, the chair* will identify the proper council*, committee*, or constituency* group leadership for review, and forward the issue for consideration.

- Once consensus* is reached after deliberation, council*/committee* members will support the group's recommendation.

Meeting Management Tools

Tools in this section address how the governance meeting should be organized, a simple process of how to apply consensus* decision-making to meeting deliberations, the roles of chairs* and participants, and strategies for effective record-keeping and communications.

Meetings are the primary mechanism for convening governance groups. Effective meetings require well-thought-out agendas, active participation, and a record of the meetings, topics and outcomes. Best practices for agenda design include the following:

- Careful agenda preparation in advance, using provided templates that are both easily found online and in print, and are Americans with Disabilities Act \(ADA\)-compliant for accessibility
 - Remember, agendas are driven by committee charge
- Focus on prioritized issues
 - Items included are prioritized based on the committee charge
 - Items should also be prioritized based on time of occurrence in the academic year
- Balance between agenda items and meeting time available
 - A thoughtful balance between presentation and discussion* should be maintained
 - Remember: a one-hour meeting should have no more than two agenda items requiring active dialogue
- Discussion* content should be framed by well-designed questions
 - Providing questions for discussion can invite focused participatory input better than simply framing content by topic
- Record key findings and commitments using accessible meeting notes templates
 - Reserve time at the end of meetings to collectively summarize action/information items, and what constituency* representatives should take to their groups for discussion* and what information the committee expects back from constituency* members

Consensus* Forming and Decision* Making

Achieving meaningful consensus is essential to effective governance and leads to the formation of decisions that advance the college community in the direction of preferred outcomes. In this context “consensus” describes a general state of agreement rather than a “majority opinion.” Clear agreements and public indications of understanding and support by committee members are critical to maintain forward progress of all governance groups. Participatory governance is driven by dialogue addressing issues of shared importance that seeks consensus. All council*/committee* members, especially the chair* or convener*, are expected to make good-will attempts to resolve each participant's concerns before asking for agreement and closing discussion* regarding a recommendation or forward actions.

At Grossmont College, consensus is reached on the College Council and on standing committees when at least three-fourths/75 percent of voting members* present are in agreement on a decision. Consensus is not reached on College Council if more than two of those in the minority are members of the same constituency; this does not apply to standing committees. In those instances when consensus is not reached, more conversation is required and the item may not move forward as a recommendation.

Recommendations are forwarded from standing committees to College Council, and from College Council to the College President. The College President is responsible for a final decision and is expected to provide to the College Council a written response that includes their reasoning regarding that decision, especially if the decision departs from the recommendation.

Participatory Governance Roles

There are several roles for those who participate in a participatory governance body*. The following list describes those roles and the expectations for each type.

Role of the Convener* and Co-Chairs*

The role of the convener of College Council, or the co-chairs of any standing committee, is important in managing the business of that participatory governance body*. (For the College Council, the person convening the meeting is a convener due to their lack of voting on that body.) For meetings, the convener or co-chairs are responsible for:

- developing agendas, including awareness of the college's calendar and the scheduling of items to ensure timely discussion* and processing in the participatory governance system, especially in those instances where items must be forwarded to the district governing board for approval;
- monitoring member attendance and following up with constituency leadership regarding any chronic absenteeism;
- ensuring meeting discussions* are focused on agenda items that adhere to the committee*/council's* charge;
- participating in convener/chair training; and
- equally collaborating with their committee co-chair on the aforementioned items.

The College Council convener and committee co-chairs are also responsible for ensuring that all members are properly trained, and for requesting appointment or reappointment of constituency representatives. Most importantly the convener and co-chairs are responsible for ensuring all committee members have an opportunity to voice their opinions and ideas, and cultivating a safe and welcoming environment for discussion*.

Standing committees have two co-chairs: one appointed ex-officio administrator and one elected by the committee itself from the current membership. Faculty and staff co-chairs will rotate on an annual basis. To prevent one constituency group from occupying both co-chair positions, representatives from the Administrators' Association will not participate as a rotating co-chair.

Role of the Voting Council*/Committee* Member

Participatory governance works best when all participants approach their role with a goal of understanding the committee's purpose and objectives, contributing ideas, listening for understanding, and are committed to equity*, civility, mutual respect, and collegial behavior.

Active participation by all committee members enables the college community to strive for governance outcomes that are inclusive, reflect all constituency perspectives, and expand the leadership capacity of Grossmont College. Participants should be consensus-seeking rather than position-taking, which requires the dialogue process to be transparent and enables all members to both listen and understand one another clearly. Committee members should come to meetings on time and prepared, having read, reviewed any materials provided in advance and/or having completed any assigned tasks.

While the college's participatory governance system does not specifically record votes, recommendations are made by standing committees and the College Council through informal voting that results in consensus*. All council and committee members, whether voting or not, are able to discuss items under review, but only voting members* can participate in voting and providing a formal recommendation.

In the event that a committee member who represents a constituency is absent, the member may appoint a proxy*. In those instances, proxy* have the same authority to discuss and vote on issues on behalf of the absent member they represent. On College Council, a maximum of two proxy* members is allowed for each constituency group at each meeting. It is the responsibility of the constituency group representative to inform the proxy* of agenda items, constituency group discussions*, and committee/council discussions* related to the agenda item, and to notify the convener* or co-chairs* of their absence and assigned proxy*.

Role of the Constituency Member

Constituency* members representing students, staff, faculty or supervisors/administrators, have an important role in the participatory governance process. By representing the whole of their constituency*, e.g., all faculty, all classified professionals, all students, and all supervisors/administrators (excluding the executive leadership* team), bring important viewpoints, experiences, context, and institutional memory to the meeting table.

As a constituency* group representative, they are representing the "we" of their group as opposed to themselves as an individual, their respective department or program, or their division. While there is no expectation that constituency* representatives must share a single perspective and/or vote as a unified block on any committee or council*, constituency* group representatives are appointed by their respective leadership group – Academic Senate, Administrators' Association, Associated Students of Grossmont College, or Classified Senate – to represent their group and are responsible for reporting back to their groups in addition to creating a two-way communication between participatory governance bodies and their constituency*.

There is a three-year length of service for each constituency* member after which they must be reappointed or replaced by their constituency* group.

Role of the Proxy* Member

Proxy representation on committees* and the College Council is arranged by the constituency* group representative who will be absent for an upcoming meeting. While there is responsibility for the constituency* group representative to inform the proxy member of the committee's agenda, discussions*, and action items, the proxy is responsible for understanding as much as possible regarding the committee/council meeting that they will attend, including proper meeting preparation and coming to the meeting on time.

Role of the Expert/Ex Officio* Member

An expert member is appointed to a committee* or council* because they have an expertise and/or official position relevant to the work of the committee*. The role of the expert member is to advise and provide counsel to the committee* so that all members may have a thorough understanding of the matter under discussion*. Expert/ex officio members are full members and have the right to vote. Role of the Advisory Member

Similar to the expert/ex officio* member, an advisory member* is appointed to a committee* or council* because they have an expertise relevant to the work of the committee. However, they do not have the right to vote on committees or councils.

Role of the Note Taker

Each participatory governance committee* or council* should have an assigned note taker to record discussions* and conclusions, and distribute agenda and meeting minutes in a timely fashion. Note takers will most likely be the administrative assistant for the permanent administrative co-chair*. Note takers cannot serve as committee/council members or as proxy* and, if absent, the note taker and/or convener* or co-chairs* should find an appropriate substitute who is not an existing committee member.

Role of the Meeting Guest

Three types of guests may attend participatory governance committee* or council* meetings:

- guests who provide expert knowledge who have been invited to attend on behalf of the convener*, co-chairs* or a committee*/council* member;
- guests who wish to make a statement during open comment; and
- guests who wish to observe the open meeting.

Guests do not have voting privileges and are only allowed to comment upon invitation, such as the agenda item for which they are providing expertise or during open comment. All meeting guests should be respectful, enter and exit the meeting with as little disruption as possible, and limit their comments to the agenda items under discussion*, unless they are commenting during open comment.

COMMUNICATION AND DOCUMENTATION

Effective participatory governance depends on good communication and documentation. To be most effective, governance communications and documentation should:

- enable all members of the college community to see, understand and participate in governance activities through use of accessible, American with Disabilities Act (ADA)compliant agendas and minutes created from a college-provided template;
- focus on documentation of agreements, actions items, and relevant context for the:
 - a. participatory governance body*
 - b. between participatory governance bodies, e.g., College Council and standing committees or between standing committees
 - c. for constituency* groups;
- ensure standing committees move recommendations forward to the College Council and that the College Council forwards recommendations to the College President for final consideration and decision-making;
- annually review and evaluate the process via the College Council; □ and provide a feedback mechanism.

Communication and documentation are essential to the active participation of all constituency* groups. Best practices for ensuring this result are listed below:

- establishing outcome reporting protocols accessible to all in the community college;
- providing agenda and meeting records in a timely manner;
- providing timely publication of meeting records with clear action items;
- keeping meeting records that reflect key discussion* points, outputs, and action items;
- adhering to agenda and minutes publication timelines as a matter of good practice; and
- providing an accessible document repository that is Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)-compliant.

GOVERNANCE RELATIONSHIPS

Grossmont College is led by an executive leadership* team comprised of the president and vice presidents. To create an effective recommendation- and decision-making process, the executive leadership* team seeks input and feedback from the college's constituency* groups via the participatory governance system. The college's constituency* groups include:

- students, represented by the Associated Students of Grossmont College;
- classified professionals, represented by Classified Senate;
- faculty, represented by Academic Senate; and

- supervisors/administrators, represented by Administrators' Association.

Other representative bodies for college employees include bargaining units such as American Federation of Teachers (AFT), California School Employees Association (CSEA), and Administrators' Association. Administrators' Association is the only group on campus to represent members as a constituency* group and as a bargaining unit; it represents educational and classified supervisors and managers districtwide.

Students

Associated Students of Grossmont College (ASGC) is the student government that represents students at Grossmont College, and represents Grossmont College students at the Student Senate for California Community Colleges (SCTCC) at the statewide level. ASGC is comprised of an executive leadership* team that includes a president, vice president, vice president of finance and other positions, as well as a board of directors where each director represents 1,000 students.

ASGC makes recommendations to the college regarding academic and curricular concerns, such as those outlined in the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, Section 51023.7, commonly known as "9+1,"* as having a significant effect on students and calling for student contributions to decision-making:

1. Grading policies;
2. Codes of student conduct;
3. Academic disciplinary policies;
4. Curriculum development;
5. Courses or programs that should be initiated or discontinued;
6. Processes for institutional planning and budget development;
7. Standards and policies regarding student preparation and success;
8. Student services planning and development;
9. Student fees within the authority of the District to adopt; and
10. Any other District and college policy, procedure, or related matter that the District governing board determines will have significant effect on students.

Per GCCCD BP 2510:

“The Governing Board recognizes the Associated Students of Grossmont College and the Associated Student Government of Cuyamaca College as the official voices for students in the District. Students, through the Associated Students groups, shall be given an opportunity to participate effectively in the formulation and development of District policies and procedures that have a significant effect on students, as defined by law. The recommendations and positions of the Associated Students will be given every reasonable consideration. The selection of student representatives to serve on District committees or task forces shall be made after consultation with the Associated Students.”

Classified Professionals

Classified staff are represented as a constituency* by the Classified Senate at Grossmont College. The Classified Senate represents non-supervisor classified staff employees, including confidential employees. Throughout the district, the Classified Senates promote the interests of all Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District Classified Staff in accordance with AB 1725* mandates.

Per GCCCD BP 2510:

“Administrators and staff shall be provided with opportunities to participate in the formulation and development of District policies and procedures that have a significant effect on staff. In the development of policies or procedures, after consultation with the administration of the colleges/District, staff may present their views and recommendations to the Governing Board. The opinions and recommendations of the Confidential Administrators, Administrator’s Association, Classified Senate, California School Employees Association (CSEA), and Confidential Employees will be given every reasonable consideration.”

In addition, the California School Employees Association (CSEA) is the exclusive bargaining agent for classified staff employed by the GCCCD and as such negotiates and represents classified staff in contractual issues. Per the district governing board, the role for CSEA in participatory governance is to select members to serve on governance committees* and councils* specific to bargaining subjects.

Faculty

As a constituency*, faculty are represented by Academic Senate, which consults collegially with both the college administration and the Governing Board (in line with AB 1725*) to either rely primarily or reach mutual agreement* (as defined in BP/AP2510) on the development of policies and procedures related to academic and professional matters, also known as “10+1”*:

1. Curriculum, including established prerequisites and placing courses within disciplines;
2. Degree and certificate requirements;
3. Grading policies;
4. Educational program development;
5. Standards or policies regarding student preparation and success;
6. District and College governance structures as related to faculty roles;
7. Faculty roles and involvement in the accreditation process, including the College's selfstudy and other annual reports;
8. Policies for faculty professional development activities;
9. Processes for program review;
10. Processes for institutional planning and budget development; and

11. Other academic and professional matters as mutually agreed upon between the Governing Board and Academic Senate.

In addition, the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) is the exclusive bargaining agent for the faculty employed by the GCCCD and as such negotiates and represents faculty in contractual issues. As the roles of the Academic Senate and AFT overlap on matters covered by both the “10+1” and the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA), the Grossmont College Academic Senate has established appointment policies which include AFT representation.

Supervisors/administrators

The Administrators' Association has a two-fold purpose in the Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District: as an employee union, and representation of supervisors/administrators as a constituency* group. The Administrators' Association represents classified and educational supervisors and supervisors/administrators, but does not include confidential supervisors/administrators, or the executive leadership* team that includes the vice presidents or the college president. Administrators' Association shall make appointments to councils*, committees*, and task forces for those groups specifying its representation from the perspective of its role as the constituency* representative.

Representatives appointed to Grossmont College governance committees will be Grossmont College employees. When the Administrators' Association President is not a Grossmont College employee, they will appoint a Grossmont College member to any ex-officio seat the association President occupies.

Standing committees have two co-chairs*: one appointed ex-officio administrator and one elected by the committee itself from the current membership. To prevent one constituency* group from occupying both co-chair* positions, representatives from the Administrators' Association will not participate as a rotating co-chair*.

GLOSSARY

9+1: California Code of Regulations, Title 5, Section 51023.7, commonly known as "9+1," as having a significant effect on students and calling for student contributions to decision-making (see p. 16)

10+1: created by Assembly Bill (AB) 1725; used in reference to either rely primarily or reach mutual agreement on the development of policies and procedures related to academic and professional matters, also known as "10+1" (see p. 17 – 18)

AB 1725: Assembly Bill 1725, landmark 1988 legislation authored by the late John Vasconcellos, which created academic faculty purview of "academic and professional" matters, also known as "10+1"

Administrative procedure (AP): a statement of the process to be used in implementing a corresponding Board Policy. The Chancellor approves and issues Administrative Procedures (see definition in GCCCD governing board document).

Annual unit plan: the annual process by which college programs and departments advocate for resources, including budget, staffing, technology, etc.

Asset-minded vs. Deficit-minded: deficit-based perspectives often focus on needs, missing resources and what students don't have. This can perpetuate negative stereotypes. While it is critical to understand unique needs, it is also critical to do so while acknowledging what assets, like community, that students have and raise those up.

AP/BP 2510: the GCCCD governing board has an administrative procedure and board policy that pertains to "Participation in Local Decision-Making" (see AP 2510 and BP 2510)

Advisory member: similar to the expert/ex officio member, an advisory member is appointed to a committee or council because they have an expertise relevant to the work of the committee; however, they do not have the right to vote on committees or councils.

Bargaining unit: GCCCD faculty, classified professionals and administrators/managers are represented by their unions that include American Federation of Teachers (AFT), Classified School Employees Association (CSEA) and Administrators' Association, respectively.

Board policy (BP): a written statement that embodies the interest and philosophy of the Governing Board and exists to provide parameters of governance concerning a particular area or issue of the District; a majority of the Board members must approve a Board Policy (see definition in GCCCD governing board document).

California Education Code: the collection of all the laws directly related to California K-12 schools and community colleges.

California Code Regulation (CCR): the codification of the general and permanent rules and regulations (sometimes called administrative law) announced in the California Regulatory Notice Register by California state agencies.

Chair: the appointed administrative chair manages the business of their participatory governance body, such as the College Council or a standing committee (see p. 12).

Co-chair: the elected co-chair is selected by the committee itself from the current membership; the elected co-chair rotates on an annual basis between faculty and classified constituency representatives and serves alongside the appointed administrative chair (see p. 13).

Committee: the majority of the participatory governance body is composed of committees; they are composed of constituency representatives, and ex-officio and advisory members, and are permanent parts of the internal governance process of the college (see p. 24).

Consensus: describes a general state of agreement rather than a “majority opinion” (see p. 12).

Constituency group: campus groups representing students, staff, faculty or supervisors/administrators, including Associated Students of Grossmont College, Classified Senate, Academic Senate and Administrators’ Association, respectively (see p. 13).

Convener: similar to a chair/co-chair, manages the business of that participatory governance body; this position is specific to the College Council, as they convene the meeting due to their lack of voting on that body (see p. 12).

Council: the apex participatory governance body; also known as the College Council.

Decision: the participatory governance structure makes recommendations to the college president who ultimately makes decisions.

Deficit-minded: see asset-minded

Discussion: within participatory governance bodies, discussion refers to dialogue addressing issues of shared importance that seeks consensus (see p. 11 – 12).

Equity: Equity is not about equal treatment of all students. Rather, it is about equal outcomes achieved by individualizing the instruction and support for each and every student. Equity is about all students succeeding, especially when measured according to differences such as race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, language, and family background. Building equity in education shifts the focus of responsibility for academic achievement from the students to the professional administrators and teachers who are the educators in the school. Students have to do their part, but the adults in the building need to teach in a way so that all students can succeed.

Executive leadership: this group includes the vice presidents and president of the college.

Governance body: any council or committee in the participatory governance structure.

Ex officio: literally “by virtue of their office,” refers to a committee member who is appointed to a committee or council because they have an expertise and/or official position relevant to the work of the committee; have full rights and can vote (see p. 14).

Non-voting member: see advisory member

Operational body: operational entities, such as committees, taskforces, councils, etc., are not constituency based; rather, they include the personnel to accomplish their operational tasks and conduct regular business (see p. 41).

Participatory governance: this is the structure by which the college’s subject matter experts and constituency group representatives make recommendations to the college president via its apex governance body, i.e., the College Council (see p. 8).

Proxy: an appointed constituency group representative who serves in the role of an absent constituency group representative for an upcoming meeting (see p. 14).

Quorum: the required number of the council/committee membership required to conduct the governance body’s work (see the Quorum subsection of each governance body).

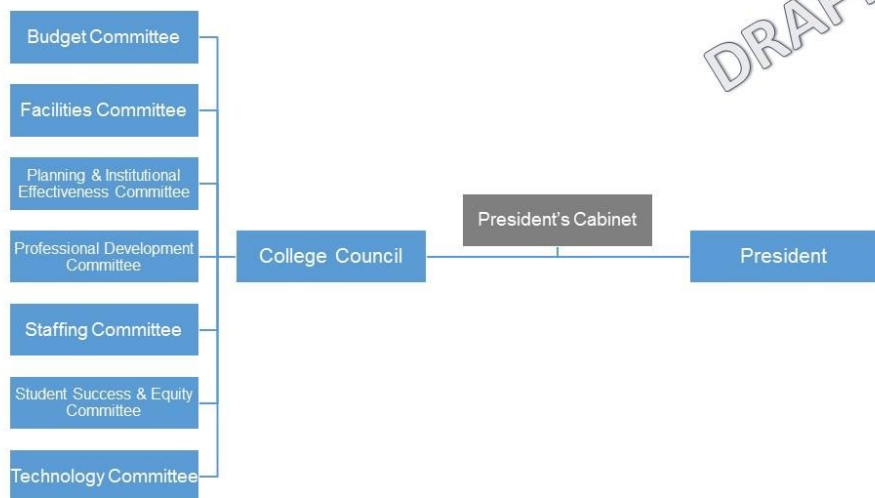

Senate: generally refers to the constituency group bodies, and sometimes more specifically the Academic Senate or Classified Senate; there is also a Student Senate for California Community Colleges (see p. 15 – 17).

Voting member: the college's participatory governance system does not specifically record votes; however, recommendations are made by standing committees and the College Council through informal voting that results in consensus (see p. 13 – 14).

College Council

Purpose

*Denotes glossary definition, see p. 18 – 20

The College Council is the apex governance body which provides guidance and recommendations to the College President regarding institutional policies, planning, and processes in support of the college mission. It engages all college constituency groups (students, faculty, classified professionals and supervisors/administrators) and the governance system as a whole through the maintenance of clear governance practices and policies, coordination of committee work across functions, and a commitment to continuous improvement and consensus building. The constituent-based representatives of this council serve the college by maintaining a broad, college-wide, and studentcentered view of the needs of the institution - both in the weighing of the input from its committees and in bringing forward items for consideration and discussion. In all matters within its purview, it will maintain a focus on the goal of equitable outcomes for all students as a key value informing decision making.

9. Regularly evaluate the effectiveness of the college's overall planning processes, including the degree to which these processes promote inclusivity, equity and integrity, and institute improvements as necessary.
10. Develop written responses to accreditation standards IV.A and IV.B and assist in the collection of evidence for other relevant standards.

OPERATIONAL COMMITTEES

Participatory vs. Operational Example

Operational entities are not constituency based; rather, they include the personnel to accomplish their operational tasks and conduct regular business. They make decisions on specific, functional issues, based on established local, state, and federal regulations, protocols, or procedures, or they may be established for other standing or temporary purposes. Operational committees also implement the decisions made as part of the participatory governance process.

Operational committee membership is based on appointment related to expertise and position, and do not represent constituency groups though their membership may reflect a wide variety of constituencies. Operational bodies are led by a chair, co-chairs or tri-chairs, depending on preference, interest in the issue, or subject matter expertise.

Operational committees can also be heavy in consultation with various campus departments or types of personnel, such as department chairs, to better complete the work of the committee.

Student Representation

Membership on operational bodies is largely assigned by position, department or division, except when it comes to student representation as outlined by California Code of Regulations, Title, Section 51023.7, more commonly known as "9+1," or by GCCCD board policy. The 9+1 policies include:

1. Grading policies
2. Codes of student conduct

3. Academic disciplinary policies
4. Curriculum development
5. Courses or programs that should be initiated or discontinued
6. Processes for institutional planning and budget development
7. Standards and policies regarding student preparation and success
8. Student services planning and development
9. Student fees within the authority of the District to adopt
10. Any other District and college policy, procedure, or related matter that the District governing board determines will have significant effect on students

While student participation is regulated, it's also important to include students in decisions that will directly affect them. Program and policy decisions are enhanced when considering student development.

Types of operational bodies

There are several different types of operational committees or bodies; they are called together based on the needs of the college.

Council

Councils are primarily bodies that represent functional areas and provide counsel to their respective vice president or dean.

Committee

Committees have a specific purpose within a defined scope of responsibility.

Steering Committee

Steering committees are charged with overseeing and directing large-scale initiatives and may oversee other committees.

Advisory Committee

Advisory committees serve to provide consultative and technical assistance to program/department staff.

Ad Hoc/Task Force

Ad hoc and task forces are generally groups with very task-oriented goals and are considered a working group that includes membership from across the college. They typically exist for a limited amount of time.

Work Group

Work groups are more constrained in assignment scope and in membership, often times with membership confined to one department, initiative or program. They typically exist for a limited amount of time.

Operational Committees

Below are current operational bodies by division:

Academic Affairs

Academic Affairs Council

Academic Division Councils (Allied Health and Nursing; Arts, Language and Communications; Career Technical Education and Workforce Development; English and Social/Behavioral Sciences; Learning and Technology Resources; Math, National Sciences, Exercise Science and Wellness)
